

Grasslands - 30-Second – Captioned for the Visually Impaired

MUSIC: "HINTERLAND WHO'S WHO" THEME

ANNOUNCER (V.O.):

Canada's grasslands are spectacular ecosystems. Many grassland species, like the black-tailed prairie dog, can't be found in any other type of habitat.

[Bird, groundhog, burrowing owls]

Some are at now risk. But conversation groups, landowners and governments are working together to restore grassland ecosystems.

[People walking at dusk]

In one project, the black-footed ferret is being reintroduced to its natural prairie habitat.

[Someone releasing a black-footed ferret]

To learn more about grasslands and how to protect them, visit hww.ca.